First Edition; Roy 8vo; Volume I. pp. xxviii, 476; colour frontispiece, 19 pages plates at end of volume, 9 pages colour illustrations, 6 text illustrations, 5 sketch maps; Volume II. pp. xviii, 406, 20 pages plates at end of volume; colour frontispiece, 5 colour plates, 4 sketch maps including one fold out map showing track of endeavour round the world, both volumes uniformly bound in original maroon cloth, titles lettered in gilt on spines, dustjackets, top edges a little dusty otherwise very good copies.

Sydney; The Trustees of the Public Library of New South Wales in association with Angus and Robertson; 1962.

The work is notable for its wealth of illustrations, mainly by Sydney Parkinson, who went on the voyage as Banks's botanical draughtsman. Eighteen of his remarkably beautiful botanical and zoological drawings are reproduced for the first time in full colour, and there are in addition eighty plates in monochrome collotype, topographical, botanical, zoological, and ethnographical. The introduction is given a separate series of portraits and there are also a number of sketch maps. The great majority of these illustrations have not before been published. Maryborough area was originally known as Simsons Ranges, stretches of country of grey box and gum flats, with ironbark forests on the hills, the whole dotted with an occasional sheep station. Gold prospectors penetrated into the wild labyrinths of the squatting domain near Maryborough around 1852. The amount of gold got from the early claims on the Main and Blackmans leads was enormous, and it soon became known as the richest strike since Bendigo. Click here to Order

London, Thames & Hudson; 2019.

This is the first full-colour publication of some of the most extraordinary botanical prints of the 18th century. Joseph Banks accompanied James Cook on his first voyage around the world between 1768 and 1771. Banks collected exotic flora from Madeira, Brazil, Tierra del Fuego, the South Pacific, New Zealand, Australia, and Java, bringing back over 1,300 species hitherto unknown to science. On his return, banks commissioned over 700 engravings as a scientific record. Known collectively as Banks' Florilegium. The present selection has been made from a unique limited colour edition of the prints, with expert botanical commentaries provided by Professor David Mabberley. Click here to Order

First Edition; Thick Cr. 4to; pp. xvi, 965; map endpapers, frontispiece, b/w illustrations, maps, endnotes, bibliography, index, bound in original black cloth with title in white on spine, dustjacket, very good copy.

Ringwood; McPhee Gribble; 1992.

Waterloo Creek is a comprehensive and intricately drawn account of the dramatic events of 1838, against the background of the fate of the Aborigines of south-eastern Australia generally in the first fifty years of the European invasion. At its centre is the story of the whites rapacious grabbing of the land. In its pursuit, morality and law are disregarded, the well-meaning

Gipps broken and humiliated, and genocide committed, condoned and even encouraged. Click here to Order

"For over 20 years, an unassuming shed in the grounds of the Hydro Majestic hotel offered visitors access to one of Australia's greatest private collections of anthropological artefacts and biological specimens. Entering its dim interior, tourists would be greeted by the curator Melbourne Ward, a man as unusual as his eclectic assemblage. His 'Gallery of Natural History and Native Art' opened in 1943 and closed in 1965. Convicts Unbound. The Story of the Calcutta Convicts and their Settlement in Australia.

First Edition; Demy 4to; pp. xiv, 353; map endpapers, numerous b/w illustrations, appendices, acknowledgements, bibliography, index, bound in original mustard cloth, title lettered in gilt on spine, dustjacket with minor chipping on edges, very good copy.

Ringwood; Viking O'Neil; 1988.

The book traces the lives and experiences of the specially selected 308 convicts transported in H.M.S. Calcutta on arriving in Port Phillip in 1803. Several unforeseen circumstances caused the convicts to be moved to the Derwent where they began the settlement which became Hobart. The fates of these convicts were fascinatingly diverse. Some, when free, returned to their homeland, while others settled in Sydney or took to the high seas as traders, sealers or pirates. Others became bushrangers, secondary offenders or succumbed to the grog and lost their land grants. But most prospered and many became more successful than the free settlers they had been sent to serve. Click here to Order
